A NEW DEPARTURE! BEST PLOW IN THE WORLD!

THE SYRACUSE CHILLED PLOW CO. of Syracuse, N. Y. Are now putting on the market a Plow that is as much superior to any Plow heretofore made as the Plows of the past few years have been superior to those made half a century ago. It combines all the excellencies of any Plow in use. It obviates all the objections made to any other Plow. In addition it embraces several new features of the greatest value, for which we have obtained exclusive Patents. Its Beam, Clevis, Jointer Standard and Wheel Standard will be STEEL, and its mold board will be a composition of steel and iron chilled under a process for which we have also obtained an Exclusive Patent. It will be called THE SYRACUSE CHILLED STEEL PLOW. Its weight will be eighteen pounds less than our present styles. A first-class Steel Plow, made in the ordinary way, full rigged, retails for twenty-two dollars. Lighter Steel Plows retail from sixteen to eighteen dollars. The price of our new Plow will be but Seventeen Dollars, and it will be the cheapest Agricultural Implement ever sold. Its mold board will outwear three of the very best kinds of the ordinary steel mold boards. It will scour in soils where all steel plows and all other plows have hitherto proved a failure. With this Plow will be introduced a corrugated Plow Point and Jointer Point, on which we have also obtained a Patent, and which is also a great improvement, both as regards strength and wear. The Jointer can be shifted so as to take more or less land, and also more or less pitch, and it can always be kept on a line with the Plow. The wheel will run under the beam or one side of it as desired, and always kept in line. The beam is adjustable for Spring or Fall Plowing, and for two or three horses. The handles can be adjusted to accommodate a man or a boy, on the same Plow. It is a perfect Plow. Wooden beams are going out of use because they shrink, warp and never run twice alike. Iron beams are too heavy. Malleable beams become demoralized and bend, which is much worse than to break. A steel beam is the necessity of the day. It is three times as strong and very much lighter than any other style. When we say a Mold board is chilled, the farmers know it is so. We do not palm off on them a composition of various metals and call it chilled metal. We want agents for this new Plow in every town in this State. We can give but a very small discount to them, but we will pay the Railroad Freight. We propose to place this Plow in the hands of Farmers as near the cost of manufacture as possible. It will be the best Agricultural Implement ever sold. It shall also be the cheapest. Persons therefore who are not willing to act as agents on the principle that "a nimble sixpence is better than a slow shilling," need not apply for an agency. No Plows on commission. All sales absolute. This is the only Steel Chilled Plow in the World. Steel costs several times more than Iron. But this Plow, full rigged, by giving small discounts, can be sold for Seventeen Dollars. Compare this price with that of any Iron Plow ever made. It is cheaper than any other Plow now made would be at five dollars and a half. Where there are no agents we will, on receipt of Seventeen Dollars, send a Plow to any Railroad station in the State and pay the freight. Address, SYRACUSE CHILLED PLOW CO. Syracuse, N. Y. Or June 18, 13w.

GENERAL HANCOCK AND MISTRESS SURRATT.

For fifteen years the entire Republican party and press have insisted that Mrs. Mary E. Surratt was tried by a legal and constitutional court, received a just and righteous sentence and was thereunder, justly and rightfully executed. They have not yet become sufficiently shameless to deny, in terms, what they have so long asserted and taught, but they insinuate that General Hancock then commander of the Middle Military Division, is in some unexpressed manner, blamable in the premises. No direct allegation is made, but we are induced to suppose that General Hancock was discourteous toward Miss Surratt, and unnecessarily severe in his deportment; and that he refused to Mrs. Surratt the last consolations of the church. Thus they are > Willing to wound and yet afraid to strike,

> Just hint a fault, and hesitate dislike;

and suppose and hope that their more humble followers will do, in excess of zeal, what the leaders dare not.

In order that they may not be allowed to pervert the truth of history, a timely examination of the facts and circumstances surrounding this memorable case may be of use, and by recalling the events, enable our own people to reply to the half concealed or more open objection. And it will be shown that whether objection be made to his official action, or to his personal bearing towards any of the unfortunate persons under sentence of the military commission, or to the friends of any of them, that he did everything in his power to alleviate the mental anguish, both of the condemned and of their friends, and was most kind and considerate towards them all in every respect.

Mrs. Surratt was charged with combining, confederating and conspiring with John Wilkes Booth, Lewis Payne, David C. Harold, John H. Surratt, Samuel A. Mudd, George A. Atzeroth, Edward Spangler, Samuel Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin to kill and murder, and in pursuance thereof, killing and murdering Abraham Lincoln, and with entertaining, harboring and concealing his murderers, with guilty knowledge. She was tried before a Military Commission, found guilty by it and sentenced to be hanged; the finding and sentence were approved by Mr. President Johnson, and the execution took place accordingly. If Mrs. Surratt was rightly tried, convicted and sentenced upon that charge and specification, then no blame can attach to any one for the execution of the sentence. And if she was ever so wrongfully tried, convicted and sentenced, no blame can attach to General Hancock, commanding the Department, who in his official capacity was only carrying into execution the orders of his superiors. He was in the position of a Sheriff executing the sentence of the law upon an offender, himself blameless, whether the convict is innocent or guilty.

It was a most delicate and trying position, but it was only one of the many in which General Hancock has been placed, in which he has most grandly displayed the highest qualities of the soldier, the patriot and the gentleman. To Mrs. Surratt and her heart broken daughter he was the christian gentleman; to the court before which he was brought on a writ of habeas corpus, the loyal patriot; and to his duty as commander of the department, the unbending soldier.

Statements made at the time of the occurrence, when only the truth needed to be told, when there was no object to be subserved by the invention or propagation of a falsehood, are the best evidence of what was said and done, and to them I appeal in making up the record. I copy from a report "prepared on the spot by the special correspondents and reporters of the Philadelphia daily 'Inquirer,'" and published in a volume, with the imprint of T. B. Peterson & Brothers at the time of the trial. The court convened on the 13th of May, 1865, they had subpoenaed for the prosecution 247 witnesses, and for the defense 236; not all of whom however were examined. The court sat from about May 13th to June 29th, when the record was made up and sent to the President. He approved it July 5th, the official order for the execution was issued on the 6th, to be carried into effect on the 7th, between 10 o'clock a. m., and 2 o'clock p. m., of that day.

What follows, is the report, verbatim, so far as it concerns General Hancock and Mrs. Surratt, and to that statement I shall not add one word. It dissipates at once every ungenerous insinuation against General Hancock, and is emphatically one of those few cases in which the truth is not only an overwhelming answer to the slander, but gives to the distinguished character of whom it is spoken, a greater lustre.

THE COURT MARTIAL.

On the first of May, 1865, President Johnson issued the following order for the trial of the criminals:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
WASHINGTON CITY, May 1, 1865.

Whereas the Attorney General of the United States has given his opinion that the persons implicated in the murder of the late President, Abraham Lincoln, and the attempted assassination of the Hon. William H. Seward, Secretary of State, and an alleged conspiracy to assassinate other officers of the Federal Government at Washington city, and their aiders and abettors are subject to the jurisdiction of and legally triable before a military commission:

It is ordered: First—That the Assistant Adjutant General detail nine competent military officers to serve as a commission for the trial of said parties, and that the Judge Advocate General proceed to prefer charges against said parties for their alleged offences, and bring them to trial before said military commission; that said trial or trials be conducted by the said Judge Advocate General, as recorder thereof, in person, aided by such assistant or special judge advocates as he may designate, and that said trials be conducted with all diligence consistent with the ends of justice and said commission to sit without regard to hours.

Second—That Brevet Major General Hartranft be assigned to duty as Special Provost Marshal General, for the purpose of said trial and attendance upon said commission, and the execution of its mandates.

Third—That the said commission establish such order or rules of proceeding as may avoid unnecessary delay and conduce to the ends of public justice.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON D. C., May 6 1865.
Official Copy:
W. A. NICHOLS,
Assistant Adjutant General.

In compliance with this order the following officers were detailed as members of the military commission:

PRESIDENT.

MAJOR GENERAL DAVID HUNTER.

MEMBERS.

MAJOR GENERAL LEW WALLACE.
BREV. MAJ. GEN. AUGUST V. KAUTZ.
BRIG. GEN. ALBION P. HOWE.
BRIG. GEN. ROBERT S. FOSTER.
BRIG. GEN. JAMES A. EKIN.
BRIG. GEN. THOMAS H. HARRIS.
COL. CHARLES A. TOMPKINS.
BREV. COL. D. R. CLENDENIN.

The prosecution was conducted by Brigadier General Joseph Holt, Judge Advocate General; assisted by Brevet Colonel H. L. Burnett, of Indiana, and Hon. John A. Bingham, of Ohio Assistant Judge Advocates.

The prisoners selected for their counsel Reverdy Johnson, of Maryland, Thomas Ewing of Kansas, W. E. Doster, of Pennsylvania, Fred A. Aikin, District of Columbia, Walter S. Cox, John W. Clampit, and F. Stone, of Maryland.

WASHINGTON, June 28—The Military Commission met this day, with closed doors, in secret session, to deliberate on the testimony and finding of a verdict for or against the conspirators, and after a session of six hours duration, not coming to a decision in all the cases, adjourned till the next day, Thursday June 29th.

[The testimony having been taken and the argument of counsel having been made between May 13 and June 28, the Commission met as follows:]

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Military Commission met this morning in secret session, with closed doors, and after being in session some hours found a verdict in the case of each of the conspirators, when a record was made up and forwarded to the War Department for review, from whom it will be sent to the President, who will examine the whole of the voluminous testimony closely before rendering his decision on the findings of the Military Commission.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—In accordance with the finding and sentences of the Military Commission, which the President approved yesterday, David E. Harold, Lewis Payne, Mrs. Surratt, and George A. Atzeroth are to be hung to-morrow, by the proper Military authorities.

Dr. Mudd, Arnold and O'Laughlin are to be imprisoned for life, and Spangler for six years, all at hard labor, in the Albany Penitentiary.

THE OFFICIAL ORDER.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The following important order has just been issued:—

War Department, Adjutant General's Office Washington, July 5, 1865.—To Major General W. S. Hancock, United States Volunteers, commanding the Middle Military Division, Washington, D. C.

Whereas, By the Military Commission appointed in paragraph 4, Special Orders No 211, dated War department, Adjutant General's Office, Washington, May 6 1865, and of which Major General Hunter, United States Volunteers, was President, the following persons were tried, and, after mature consideration of evidence adduced in their cases, were found and sentenced as hereinafter stated, as follows.—

MRS SURRATT'S SENTENCE.

Marry E. Surratt.—Finding of the specification guilty, except as to receiving sustaining, harboring and concealing Samuel Arnold and Michael O'Laughlin, and except as to combining, confederating and conspiring with Edward Spangler; of this not guilty. Of the charge guilty, except as to combining confederating and conspiring with Edward Spangler, of this not guilty.

Sentence.—And the commission does, therefore, sentence her, the said Mary E. Surratt, to be hung by the neck until she be dead, at such time and place as the President of the United States shall direct, two-thirds of the commission concurring therein.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S APPROVAL.

And Whereas, The President of the United States has approved the foregoing sentences, in the following order, to wit:—

EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 5, 1865.—The foregoing sentences in the cases of David E. Harold, G. A. Atzroth, Lewis Payne and Mary E. Surratt, are hereby approved; and it is ordered that the sentences in the cases of David E. Harold, G. A. Atzroth, Lewis Payne and Mary E. Sarratt are to be carried into execution by the proper military authorities under the direction of the Secretary of war, on the 7th day of July, 1865, between the hours of 10 A. M., and 2 o'clock P. M. of that day. (Signed)

ANDREW JOHNSON, President.

Therefore you are hereby commanded to cause the foregoing sentences in the cases of David E. Harold, G. A. Atzeroth Lewis Payne and Mary E. Surratt to be duly executed, in accordance with the President's order.

By command of the President of the United States.

Assistant Adjutant General.

THE SENTENCES READ TO THE PRISONERS.

About noon to-day, Gen. Hancock, who is charged with the execution of the sentences, proceeded to the penitentiary, and in company with Maj. General Hartranft visited the cell of each prisoner and informed each what verdict had been rendered. No one was present at this interview but the two Generals and the turnkey.

Mrs. Surratt, on learning her fate, was extremely depressed, and wept bitterly. She was alone, her daughter, having left her a short time before, not knowing the sentence was to be announced to her mother to-day.

MRS. SURRATT'S SPIRITUAL ADVISERS.

Mrs. Surrat asked that Fathers Walter and Wiget, Catholic priests, of Baltimore, be sent for. Her wish was immediately complied with, and both the clergymen arrived this evening, and were admitted to her cell.

A FALSE RUMOR.

An impression appears to prevail throughout the city that Mrs. Surratt will not be executed, that the President will commute her sentence to imprisonment.

In less than an hour after the findings had been announced this rumor was on the street, and it was asserted that many who had been most strenuous in asking for severe punishment upon the conspirators were willing to unite in an effort to have the sentence in Mrs. Surratt's case changed to imprisonment. This rumor was wide spread, but had no foundation in fact. The wish was evidently father to the thought.

NO EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

Harold's sister called at the White House this afternoon, pleading for mercy, and Father Walter and Mr. Aiken, one of Mrs. Surratt's counsel, also called on behalf of Mrs. Surratt, but the President declined to see any of them, and referred them all to Judge Holt. It would seem to be the determination of the President to decline interfering in the matter, and there is no doubt but all those condemned to death will be executed to-morrow, Mrs. Surratt among the number.

Aiken says he has some after-discovered testimony to offer, favorable to her case. But it is not probable the President will relent to-morrow.

PAYNE, ATZEROTH, HAROLD AND MRS. SURRATT ARE HUNG!

WASHINGTON, July 7, 1865.—To-day the last scene of the terrible tragedy of the 14th of April took place. Lewis Payne, David E. Harold, George A. Atzeroth and Mary E. Surratt, the ring-leaders in the murderous plot to assassinate the heads of the Government, and to throw the land into anarchy and confusion paid the penalty of their crime upon the gallows.

The execution was comparatively a private one. The following is the form of order which was imperatively required to secure admission to the scene of the execution:

Headquarters Middle Military Division, Washington, D. C., July 7, 1865.—Major General J. F. Hartranft, Military Governor of Military Prisons:—Admit — —, Reporter of the Philadelphia Inquirer, to the Military Prison this day.

WINFIELD S. HANCOCK,
Major General Volunteers com'ndg.

on the reverse was written "between 10 and 1 P. M"

Each pass was registered with the rank and station of the officer and the paper to which the representative belonged.

Only one hundred were issued, and one-forth of these to the representatives of the press. Over a thousand applications were made to General Hancock for passes from various sources, but he conducted the whole affair with the most commendable propriety, and squelched completely the "Seceh" sympathisers who wished to witness the execution. Those who came from mere personal curiosity were all denied.

The newspaper reporters soon began to congregate also, and in a few minutes not less than a score were in attendance, waiting to pick up the smallest item of interest. No newspaper man was allowed to see the prisoners in their cells before they were led out to execution, and General Hartranft was very decided on this point.

THE CLERGY.

While waiting here for over three hours, the clergymen passed in and out through the heavy riveted doors leading to the prison cells, which creaked heavily on its hinges as it swung to and fro, and the massive key was turned on the inner side with a heavy sound as a visitor was admitted within its portals.

Mrs. Surratt's daughter passed into the ante-room, accompanied by a lady who remained seated, while the daughter rapidly entered the hall, and, passing through the heavy door, is soon in the corridor where her mother is incarcerated.

At twelve o'clock the bustle increases. Officers are running to and fro calling for orderlies and giving orders. General Hartranft is trying to answer twenty questions at once from as many different persons. The sentry in the hall is becoming angry because the crowd will keep intruding on his beat, when suddenly a buggy at the door announces the arrival of General Hancock.

He enters the room hurriedly, takes General Hartranft aside, and a few words pass between them in a low tone, to which Hartranft nods acquiescence; then in a loud voice, Hancock says: "Get ready, General, I want to have everything put in readiness as soon as possible." This was the signal for the interviews of the clergymen, relatives and friends of the prisoners to cease and for the dooomed to prepare for execution.

The bustle increases. Mr. Aiken approaches Gen. Hancock and a few minutes' conversation passes between them. Aiken's countenance changes perceptibly at Hancock's words. The reason is plain; there is no hope for Mrs. Surratt. The habeas corpus movement, from which he expected so much, has failed, and Aiken, in a voice tremulous with emotion, said to your correspondent, "Mrs. Surratt will be hung."

The bright hopes he had cherished had all vanished, and the dreadful truth stood before him in all its horror. Clampitt, too, till General Hancock arrived, indulged the hope that the habeas corpus would effect a respite for three or four days.

At 12:40 four arm chairs are brought out and placed upon the scaffold, and the moving around of General Hartranft indicates the drawing near of the time. The newspaper correspondents and reporters are admitted to a position about thirty feet from the gallows, and about one o'clock and ten minutes, the heavy door in front of the cells is swung upon its hinges for the hundredth time within an hour, and a few reporters, with Gen. Hancock pass in and through to the yard, and the big door closes with a slam behind them. All take positions to get a good view. Gen. Hancock for the last time takes a survey of the preparations, and being satisfied that everything is ready, he re-enters the prison building, and in a few minutes the solemn procession marched down the steps of the back door down into the yard, in the following order:—The condemned, Mrs. Surratt, supported by Lieutenant Colonel McCall, Two-hundredth Pennsylvania Regiment, on her left side, and Sergeant W. R. Kennedy, company A, Twelfth Veteran Reserve Corps; Fathers Walter and Weiget walking together. Harold, accompanied by Sergeant Thomas, Company B, Eighteenth Veteran Reserve Corps, and an officer attached to Col. Baker's detective force. Payne accompanied by Sergeant Grover, Company D., Eighteenth Veteran Reserve Corps, and one of Colonel Bader's detectives.

Atzeroth attended by Sergeant White Fourteenth Veteran Reserve Corps, and one of Baker's detectives. Mrs. Surratt on emerging from the back door cast her eyes upward upon the scaffold for a few moments with a look of curiosity combined with dread. One glimpse and her eyes fell to the ground, and she walked along mechanically, her head drooping, and if she had not been supported would have fallen.

HER APPEARANCE AND DEMEANOR.

She ascended the scaffold, and was led to an arm chair, in which she was seated. An umbrella was held over her by the two holy fathers, to protect her from the sun, whose rays shot down like the blasts from a fiery furnace. She was attired in a black bombazine dress, black alpaca bonnet, with black veil, which she wore over her face till she was seated on the chair. During the reading of the order for the execution by General Hartranft, the priests held a small crucifix before her which she kissed fervently several times.

She first looked at the crowd before her, then closed her eyes and seemed engaged in silent prayer. The reading and the announcement of the clergy in behalf of the other prisoners having been made, Colonel McCall, assisted by other officers, proceeded to remove her bonnet, pinion her elbows, and tie strips of cotton stuff around her dress below her knees. This done, the rope was placed around her neck and her face was covered with a white cap reaching down to the shoulders.

When they were pinioning her arms she turned her head and made some remarks to the officers in a low tone, which could not be heard. It appeared that they had tied her elbows too tight, for they slackened the bandage slightly, and then awaited the final order. All the prisoners were thus prepared at the same time, and the preparations of each were completed at about the same moment, so that when Mrs. Surratt was thus pinioned she scarcely stood ten seconds, supported by those who stood near her, when General Hartranft gave the signal by clapping his hands twice for both drops to fall, and as soon as the second and the last signal was given both fell, and Mrs. Surratt, with a jerk, fell to the full length of the rope. It was done as quick as lightning. She was leaning over, and this gave a swinging motion to her body, which lasted several minutes before it assumed a perpendicular position. Her death was instantaneous; she died without a struggle. The only muscular movement discernable was a slight contraction of the left arm, which she seemed to try to disengage from behind her as the drop fell.

After being suspended thirty minutes, she was cut down and placed in a wooden box or coffin, in the clothes in which she died, and was interred in the prison yard. The rope made a clean cut fully an inch in diameter, which was black and discolored with bruised blood. The cap was not taken off her face, and she was laid in the coffin with it on, and thus passed away from the face of the earth Mary E. Surratt. Her body, it is understood will be given to her family for burial.

INCIDENTS AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

About half past eight o'clock this morning, Miss Surratt, accompanied by a female friend, again visited the White House, having been there last evening for the purpose of obtaining an interview with the President. President Johnson having given orders that he would receive no one to-day, the door-keeper stopped Miss Surratt at the foot of the steps leading up to the President's office, and would not permit her to proceed further. She then asked permission to see General Mussey, the President's Military Secretary, who promptly answered the summons, and promptly came down stairs where Miss Surratt was standing. As soon as the General made his appearance, Miss Surratt threw herself upon her knees before him, catching him by the coat, with loud sobs and streaming eyes, implored him to assist her in having a hearing with the President.

General Mussey, in as tender a manner as was possible, informed Miss Surratt that he could not comply with her request, as President Johnson's orders were imperative, and he would receive no one.

Upon General Mussey's returning to his office Miss Surratt threw herself upon the stair steps, where she remained a considerable length of time, sobbing aloud in the greatest anguish, protesting her mother's innocence, and imploring every one who came near to her to intercede in her mother's behalf While thus weeping she declared her mother was too good and kind to be guilty of the enormous crime of which she was convicted, and asserted that if her mother was put to death she wanted to die also.

The scene was heart-rending, and many of those who witnessed it, including a number of hardy soldiers were moved to tears. Miss Surratt having become quiet, was finally persuaded to take a seat in the East Room, and here she remained for several hours, jumping up from her seat every time the front door of the mansion was opened, evidently in hopes of seeing some one enter who could be of service to her, in obtaining the desired interview with the President, or that they were the bearers of good news to her.

Two of Harold's sisters dressed in full mourning and heavily veiled, made their appearance at the White House shortly after Miss Surratt, for the purpose of interceding with the President in behalf of their brother. Failing to see the President, they addressed a note to Mrs. Johnson, and expressed a hope that she would not turn a deaf ear to their pleadings. Mrs. Johnson being quite sick, it was thought expedient by the ushers not to deliver the note, when, as a last expedient, the ladies asked permission to forward a note to Mrs. Patterson, the President's daughter, which privilege was not granted, as Mrs. Patterson was also quite indisposed to-day.

Miss Surratt was with her mother several hours last night, as also Rev. Fathers Wiget and Walter, and Mr. Brophy, who were also present this morning. She slept very little, if any, and required considerable attention, suffering with cramps and pains the entire night, caused by her nervousness. The breakfast was sent to the prisoners at the usual hour this morning, but none eat, excepting Payne, who eat heartily.

DISPOSITION OF THE MILITARY.

Major General Hartraft made the following dispositions of the military on the occasion: The Sixth Regiment Veteran Volunteers, Major Lawner, were stationed on Four-and-a-half street, from the gate of Penitentiary grounds to Pennsylvania avenue, the First Regiment Veteran Volunteers, Colonel Bond, were on duty inside the penitentiary yard, and formed the guard around the gallows.

The Fourth Regiment Veteran Volunteers were stationed on the wall surrounding the yard, and the Eighth Regiment Veteran Volunteers, Colonel Price, were stationed along the Potomac river, to prevent the landing of boats on the shore of the penitentiary grounds. The Sixteenth New York Cavalry were also on duty near the penitentiary building. About three thousand troops were employed in guarding the building and its surrounding.

A HEART-RENDING SCENE.

By permission of the authorities, the daughter or Mrs. Surratt passed the night previous to the execution with her mother in her cell. The entire interview was of a very affecting character. She remained with her mother until a short time before the execution, and when the time came for separation the screams of anguish that burst from the poor girl could be distinctly heard all over the execution ground.

During the morning the daughter proceeded to the Metropolitan Hotel, and sought an interview with General Hancock. Finding him, she implored in pitiable accents to get a reprieve for her mother. The General, of course, had no power to grant or obtain such a favor, and informed the distressed girl in as gentle a manner as possible.

General Hancock, with the kindness that always characterizes his actions apart from the stern duties of his noble profession, did his best to assuage the mental anguish of the grief-stricken girl.

THE AFTER DISCOVERED TESTIMONY.

The alleged important after discovered testimony which Aiken, counsel for Mrs. Surratt, stated would prove her innocence, was submitted to Judge Advocate General Holt last night, and after a careful examination he failed to discover anything in it having a bearing on the case. This was communicated to the President and doubtless induced him to decline to interfere in the execution of Mrs. Surratt.

THE HABEAS CORPUS APPLICATION.

About 7½ o'clock this morning the counsel for Mrs. Surratt applied to Judge Wylie, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, for a writ of habeas corpus, to be directed to Major Gen. W. S. Hancock, to bring into court the body of the prisoner.

THE PETITION.

The following is the copy of the petition:—

To the Hon. Andrew Wylie, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.—The petition of Mary E. Surratt, by her counsel, F. A. Aiken and John W. Clampitt, most respectfully represents unto your Honor, that on or about the 17th day of April A. D. 1865, your petitioner was arrested by the military authorities of the United States, under the charge of complicity with the murder of Abraham Lincoln late President of the United States, and has ever since that time been and is now confined on said charge, under and by virtue of said military power of the United States, and is now in custody of Major General W. S. Hancock, commanding Middle Military Division; that since her said arrest your petitioner has been tried; against her solemn protest, by a military commission, unlawfully and without warrant, convened by the Secretary of War, as will appear from pharagraph 9, special orders, No 211, dated War Department, Adjutant General's Office, Washington, May, the 6th, 1865, and by said Commission, notwithstanding her former plea to the jurisdiction of the said Commission, is now unlawfully and unjustly detained and sentenced to be hanged on to-morrow, July 7, 1865, between the hours of ten A. M. and two P. M.; your petitioner shows your Honor that at the time of the commission of the said offense she was a private citizen of the United States, and in no way connected with the military authority of the same, and the said offence was committed within the District of Columbia, said district being within the lines of the armies of the United States, and not enemy's territory, or under the command of a military commander for the trial of civil causes. But on the contrary, your petitioner alleges that the said crime was an offense simply against the peace of the United States, properly and solely cognizable under the Constitution and laws of the United States, by the criminal court of this district, and which said court was and is now open for the trials of such crimes and offences. Wherefore, inasmuch as the said crime was only an offense against the peace of the United States, and not an act of war, inasmuch as your petitioner was a private citizen of the same, and not subject to military jurisdiction or in any wise amenable to military law; inasmuch as said District was the peaceful territory of the United States, and that all crimes committed within such territory are, under the Constitution and laws of the United States to be tried only before its criminal tribunals, with the right of trial by jury. Inasmuch as the said Commission was a Military Commission, organized and governed by the laws of Military Court Martial, and unlawfully convened without warrant or authority, and when she had not the right of public trial by jury as guarantied to her by the laws and Constitution of the United States, that, therefore, her detention and sentence are so without warrant against positive law and unjustifiable; wherefore she prays your Honor to grant unto her the United States, most gracious writ of habeas corpus commanding the said Major General W. S. Hancock to produce before your Honor the body of your said petitioner, with the cause and day of her said detention, to abide, &c., and she will ever pray.

MARY E. SURRATT.
By Fredrick A. Aiken, Jno W. Clampitt.

INDORSEMENT BY THE COURT.

Indorsed.—"Let the writ issue as prayed, returnable before the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, now sitting, at the hour of ten o'clock A. M., this seventh day of July 1865.

ANDREW WYLIE,
"A Justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, July 7th, 1865."

The writ was accordingly issued and at 8½ o'clock A. M. the Marshal returned the same served. The Marshal reported that General Hancock had not yet appeared and it was now past the hour for his appearance. The District Attorney suggested certain objections to the proceedings.

The counsel for Mrs. Surratt stated that if his client was guilty of any crime, it was cognizable by this court, and not by a military tribunal. District Attorney Carrington, after reading the certificate of the Marshal setting forth that he had served the writ at half past eight o'clock, said he was only to defend the act of the the Marshal, and the duty required of him by direction of the court, and he found that the Marshal had performed his duty.

The Court said:—The case is now here on its merits on the petition of the party. At an early hour this morning I directed the writ of habeas corpus to Delegate election will be held on Saturday, August 7th between the hours of three and seven o'clock in the afternoon. Some cards have been printed by mistake announcing the 14th as the day. Democrats will please take notice that the 7th is the correct time.

John W. Forney is a "dead duck," General Pearson is a coward, Leonard Jerome never was much of a man any how. So say the Republican papers since the above named gentlemen have declared themselves in favor of Hancock. Isn't it singular what a miserable wretch a man may become all of a sudden when his conscience will no longer permit him to act with the Republicans? And yet, until now, these men were all good enough to be leaders in that organization.

BLACK'S LETTER

The Republican of this week had the following at the head of its editorial page:

IF HE (GARFIELD) WOULD CARRY THE PRINCIPLES WHICH REGULATE HIS PRIVATE LIFE INTO HIS PUBLIC CONDUCT HE WOULD MAKE THE BEST CHIEF MAGISTRATE WE HAVE EVER HAD.

JEREMIAH S. BLACK.

The paragraph is taken from a letter from Judge Black to McClure of the Philadelphia Times, but the Republican gives only a garbled extract. The very next sentence of the same letter reads thus:

But he will act for the interests of his party as he has acted all his lifetime, and that will require him to take the advice which Stephens gave to Montpelius in the buckshot war. I do not know any really good man who has done and assisted in doing so many bad things in politics as General Garfield.

The British Free Trade Cobden Club, of which Mr. Garfield, the republican candidate is a member, held its annual dinner, on July 10th at the Ship Hotel, Greenwich, England. Mr. Herbert Gladstone, son of the Premier, offered a toast, "Our foreign and Colonial friends"—and Mr. Thomas Bayley Potter, successor of Mr. Cobden, said "The Cobden club was now about to enter a contest with a foe worthy of its steel. Their eyes were now turned Westward. They were going to encounter their friends in the United States, and he believed that in that contest they would ultimately be victorious."

So it seems that the British Free Trade Cobden Club is going into the Presidential contest in the United States, for Mr. Garfield.

And we have here in this town, county and neighborhood, men, who all their lives have pretended to be tariff men, supporting a British Free Trader. Is it not about time that the mask was torn from the faces of these pretenders? Hereafter let us hear no more rant about "Protection to American Industry." It does not sound well in the mouth of a Garfield British Free Trader.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C. July 14th, 1880.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION—MR. GARFIELD AS A VISITING STATESMAN—HIS PART IN THE ELECTORAL FRAUD.

It is conceded in political circles here that the Democrats have much the strongest and least vulnerable candidate. The Republicans have been placed on the defensive from the first. They have been trying to explain away the DeGolyer and Credit Mobilier business; to disprove the verdicts of their own investigating committees; and to recant their own damning editorials of only eight years ago. But the Democrats have given prominence to their strongest accusation. The Credit Mobilier and DeGolyer matters can be explained on the hypothesis of innocence, only by the stultifying admission that their "great intellectual, brainy candidate" is a simpleton. But, great as the crime of public peculation may be, it is dwarfed by his participation in the crime of the century, the crimes of crimes, the counting out of the lawfully elected President of the United States. James A. Garfield was one of the conspirators who went to New Orleans, who conspired with the Louisiana Returning Board, and afterwards voted to make their conspiracy successful, when he was a member of the electoral commission. Four years ago the Nation stood aghast before this crime against Republicanism, and the rights of man, and hundreds of thousands of men swore that, at the next plebiscitum, this crime should be branded; that its perpetrators, abettors, condoners, and beneficiaries should feel the deep loathing of an injured people, of a nation's insulted majesty.

If a single sane man, who believed, four years ago, that Tilden was elected should vote for Garfield, I think it would prove that popular government is a failure, and the elective franchise a too precious trust to be given to the human race.

When Mr. Garfield accepts a purse he takes trash, but when he nullifies and reverses the emphatically expressed mandate of a great people the crime is such, alas! as no punishment can compass. Its enormity can be fully appreciated only by those who know how slowly, through ages of night and blood, and throes of hoping, despairing evolution, the rights of man have attained the vindication of the ballot box.

The Hancock boom is growing everywhere. The defection in the Republican ranks is still increasing and the indications are that Pennsylvania will give the Democratic candidates a handsome majority.

The first page of this week's paper is printed in new Long Primer type. The article headed "General Hancock and Mistress Surratt" was prepared by Col. J. G. Freeze, who possesses the only book from which the matter is taken in town. The official record utterly and finally refutes all the base charges that have been made against our candidate by the unscrupulous organs of the opposition, concerning his connection with the Surratt matter. As a piece of history this article is peculiarly interesting at this time.

THE CANDIDATES NOTIFIED.

SHORT AND SENSIBLE SPEECHES.

The committee to notify General Hancock and Mr. English of the result of the Cincinnati Convention went to Governor's Island on Tuesday. Mr. English reached Governor's Island at noon and was heartily greeted by General Hancock on the veranda of his residence. The steamer Fletcher, having on board the members of the committee of the Democratic National Convention, some members of the Democratic National Committee, quite a number of members of the Democratic Congressional campaign committee and many prominent politicians, landed at Governor's Island at 1:40 P. M. The party proceeded to the General's residence, and, on being ushered into the parlors, General Stockton handed the Secretary of the committee, Mr. Bell, the address, signed by the committee, which was as follows:

To General Hancock.

SIR: The National Convention of the Democratic party, which assembled at Cincinnati on the 22nd day of last month, unanimously nominated you as their candidate for President of the United States. We have been directed to inform you of your nomination for this exalted trust and request your acceptance. In accordance with the uniform custom of the Democratic party the members of the convention have announced their views upon the important issues which are before the country in a series of resolutions, to which we invite your attention. The resolutions embody the General principles upon which the Democratic party demand the government shall be conducted, and they also emphatically condemn the maladministration of the party in power, its crimes against the constitution and especially against the right of the people to choose and install their president, which have wrought so much injury and dishonor to our country. That which chiefly inspired your nomination was the fact that you had conspicuously recognized and exemplified the yearning of the American people for reconstruction and brotherhood under the shield of constitution, with all its jealous care and guarantees for rights of persons and of states. Your nomination was not made alone because in the midst of arms you illustrated the highest qualities of a soldier, but because, when the war had ended and when in recognition of your courage and fidelity you were placed in command of a part of the Union undergoing process of restoration, and while you were thus clothed with absolute power you used it not to subvert but to sustain civil laws and rights they were established to protect. Your fidelity to those principles, manifested in the important trusts heretofore confided to your care, gives proof that they will control your administration of the National Government, and assures the country that one indissoluble union of indestructible States, and the Constitution, with its wise distribution of power and regard for boundaries of States and Federal authority, will not suffer in your hanks; that you will maintain the subordination of the military to civil power, and will accomplish the purification of public service, and especially that the government which we love will be free from reproach or stain of sectional agitation or malice in any shape or form. Rejoicing in common with the masses of the American people upon this bright promise for the future of our country we wish also to express to you personally the assurance of general esteem and confidence which have summoned you to this high duty, and will aid you in its performance. Your fellow citizens,

JOHN W. STEVENSON, Pres. Convention.
NICHOLAS M. BELL, Secretary.

GENERAL HANCOCK'S REPLY.

The paper was then handed to General Hancock, who in reply said:

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the committee, I appreciate the honor conferred upon me by the Democratic National Convention, lately assembled in Cincinnati, and I thank you for your courtesy in making that honor known to me. As soon as the importance of the matter permits I will prepare and send to you a formal acceptance of my nomination for the office of President of the United States.

Those present were introduced to General Hancock, who had a few words of welcome for each of them. After about ten minutes spent in hand-shaking General Stockton, turning to the Hon. William H. English, said:

The Cincinnati Convention, with a unanimity unparalleled, appointed us as a committee to wait upon you, at such time and place as would be most agreeable to you, and inform you in person and in writing of your nomination. I now have the honor to congratulate ourselves on the event and to present to you, on the part of the committee and in the name of the convention of the national Democratic party, the official announcement of your nomination.

Hon. W. H. English in reply spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee: As a practical business man, not much accustomed to indirection of action or circumlocution of speech, I will say plainly and in a few words that I accept the high trust which you have tendered me with feelings of profound gratitude and that I will at an early date formally and in writing make the acceptance which I am informed is usual on such occasions. In doing this I fully realize the great responsibility of the situation, the care, turmoil, anxiety, misrepresentations and abuse which are certain to follow, and I understand thoroughly that all the resources and power of our political foes from all parts of the land will be concentrated against us in Indiana, my native State, where the first grand battle is to be fought, and probably the most important of all. But there are great occasions when the discharge of high patriotic duties is to be considered above all present considerations, and I shall not disregard the unanimous voice of the representatives of the majority of the American people which you speak here to-day. [Applause.] I am profoundly grateful for the high honor which has been conferred, and I have an abiding faith that with the favor of God and the people we shall succeed in this contest.

The speaker was applauded at the close of his remarks, and then followed another general hand-shaking, after which the party again boarded the Fletcher and left the Island.

DIVISION OF THE STATE.

PROPOSED PLAN TO MAKE TWO STATES OUT OF PENNSYLVANIA.

THE SUSQUEHANNA RIVER TO BE THE DIVIDING LINE BETWEEN THE OLD AND THE NEW STATES—POPULATION AND POLITICAL COMPLEXION OF EACH.

It is quietly mooted that there is a scheme on foot to divide the state of Pennsylvania. Just who is at the bottom of this movement is not stated, and the story is given for what it is worth. The division plot, however, is said to have the support of a number of leading politicians throughout the commonwealth. The proposed two states are to be called respectively Pennsylvania and Western Pennsylvania. The plan of division, it is further stated, has been prepared with great care, the following counties to form that part of the state that will retain the name it now bears, Berks, Bradford, Bucks, Carbon, Chester, Columbia, Dauphin, Delaware, Lancaster, Lackawanna, Lebanon, Lehigh, Luzerne, Lycoming, Monroe, Montgomery, Montour, Northampton, Northumberland, Philadelphia, Pike, Schuylkill, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, Wayne and Wyoming.

Under the census now being taken the population of these twenty-seven counties is estimated to be 2,800,000, leaving an estimated population of 2,300,000 for the remaining forty counties that are to form the new state. The parties that have this scheme in hand have made an estimate of the political complexion of both commonwealths. They have taken the election for President in 1876 as the basis, and ten of the counties named gave a total Republican majority of 27,472, leaving a net Republican majority of 5,122 for the new state.

It is also believed that the legislature of both commonwealths will be Republican. As it now stands, according to the figures show, the 27 counties forming the old state—under the proposed division—have 20 Republican and 9 Democratic state Senators, and 48 Republican and 40 Democratic assemblymen, or a Republican majority of 12 on joint ballot for United States Senator. The plan of division looks well as drawn on paper; The Susquehanna River forms a natural boundary between the two proposed states from the Maryland line to Lycoming county, and from that point to New York state line the boundaries between Lycoming and Tioga on the one side, and Potter and Clinton on the other, will be the line that is to separate the two states.

The constitution provides that "no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state without the consent of the legislature as well as of congress," and it is said that there will be no difficulty in having the legislature pass a bill forming two states, nor of the sanction of congress.

The Soldiers for Hancock.

An important political movement is under way, comprehending the organization of the veteran soldiers of the Union and Confederate armies, irrespective of politics, into a solid support of General Hancock for President. The new organization is called the Hancock Veteran association, and its promoters say that the movement is entirely removed from political associations or the control of politicians. Among those who are active in taking the initiatory steps of what is designed to be an influential and powerful organization, having the advancement of General Hancock's interests solely in view, are General William F. Smith, General William B. Franklin, General Slocum and General Woodward. Headquarters have been established at the Union Square hotel, where the central committee will be in daily session during the campaign. A meeting will be held next week for the purpose of electing the members of the latter.

"There are," said General William F. Smith, "thousands of soldiers who fought on both sides who do not belong to either existing political party, or who are republicans by inclination, but who intend to support General Hancock for President. It is necessary to foster this spirit and provide a headquarters for these persons free from intrusions of politicians or the conflicting aims of party machinery. This is the aim of the Hancock Veteran association, and we expect to perform a great work in organizing this formidable phalanx of soldier voters. We shall have a complete organization in every state, and all these branches will be in constant communication with the central committee, whose headquarters will be in Union Square. During the campaign we expect the committee will be in frequent consultation with General Hancock at the headquarters, and that our work will be greatly facilitated by the advice or suggestions that he will from time to time give."

Mr. English's Popularity.

Some of the republicans are very busy circulating that our fellow townsman, Hon. William H. English, is personally unpopular. Men of positive traits of character and fine business qualities often are, and yet they make our best and most successful citizens and public officers. But it is easier for the republicans to say that Mr. English is unpopular than it will be for them to prove it. Where is the evidence of unpopularity? Was it in early life, when he was elected to the legislature in a county opposed to him in politics? Was it when he was elected to Congress in a district which was then very close in politics, by 500 majority, and by an increasing majority in the same district at each election, until the majority reached 2,000, and this at a time when the Democrats where on the down grade everywhere else?

Was it when he was elected principal clerk and afterwards speaker of the House of Representatives.

Was it when he was elected principal secretary of the convention that formed the present constitution of Indiana?

Or, coming down to later times, was it when, aided by the Editor of The People, he defeated the celebrated coal road project in this city, carrying every ward against the most fearful odds in the beginning?

Or, was it only last year when he elected his son to the legislature in a republican district?

No, gentleman republicans, your assertion in this regard is mere partisan gasconade, and you do not believe it yourselves. You know that William H. English was never defeated before the people, and that he generally succeeds in what he undertakes. All your misrepresentations and lies will make him stronger before the people. If Mr. English lives he will be the next Vice-President of the United States, and he will be a credit to the state of Indiana, of which he is a native, as well as a favorite son.—Indianapolis People.

GARFIELD'S LETTER ACCEPTING THE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION.

THE BLOODLESS WARRIOR AND TARNISHED STATESMAN TALKS GLIBLY OF ABUSES IN WHICH HIS OWN PARTY HAS ALWAYS REVELED—HIS ADDRESS TO THE GALLERIES.

General Garfield has forwarded to Senator Hoar the following letter of acceptance of the nomination tendered him by the Republican national Convention.

MENTOR, July 10.—Dear Sir: On the evening of 8th of June last I had the honor to receive from you in presence of the committee of which you were chairman, the official announcement that the Republican National convention, at Chicago, had that day nominated me for their candidate for President of the United States. I accept the nomination with gratitude for the confidence it implies, and with deep sense of responsibilities it imposes. I cordially indorse the principles set forth in the platform adopted by the convention on nearly all the subjects on which it treats. My opinions are on record among the published proceedings of Congress. I venture, however, to make special mention of some of the principal topics which are likely to become subjects of discussion, without reviewing the controversies which have been settled during the last twenty years and with no purpose or wish to revive the passions of the late war. It should be said that while the republicans fully recognize and will strenuously defend all the rights retained by the people and all the rights reserved by the states, they reject the pernicious doctrine of the state supremacy which so long crippled the functions of the national government and at one time brought the Union very near to destruction. They insist that the United States is a nation with ample power of self preservation; that its constitution and laws made in pursuance thereof are the supreme law of the land; that the right of the nation to determine the method by which its own legislature shall be created cannot be surrendered without abdicating one of the fundamental powers of the government; that the national laws relating to the election of representatives in Congress shall neither be violated or evaded; that every elector shall be permitted freely and without intimidation to cast his lawful ballot at such election and have it honestly counted and that the potency of his vote shall not be destroyed by the fraudulent vote of any other person. The best thoughts and energies of our people should be directed to those great questions of national well being in which all have a common interest. Such efforts will soonest restore perfect peace to those who were lately in arms against each other, for justice and good-will will outlast passion; but it is certain that the wounds of war cannot be completely healed and the spirit of brotherhood cannot fully pervade the whole country until every citizen rich and poor, white or black, is secure in the free and eloquent enjoyment of every civil and political right guaranteed by the constitution and the laws. Whenever the free and equal enjoyment of this right is not assured, discontent will prevail, immigration will cease and the social and industrial forces will continue to be disturbed by the migration of laborers and consequent diminution of prosperity. The national government should exercise all its constitutional authority to put an end to these evils, for all the people and all the states are members of one body, and no member can suffer without injury to all.

THE TROUBLES IN THE SOUTH.

The most serious evils which now afflict the South arise from the fact that there is no such freedom and toleration of political opinion and action that the minority party can exercise an effective and wholesome restraint upon the party in power. Without such restraint the party rule becomes tyrannical and corrupt. The prosperity which is made possible in the south by its great advantages of soil and climate will never be realized until every voter can freely and safely support any party he pleases. Next in importance to freedom and justice is popular education, without which neither justice nor freedom can be permanantly maintained. Its interests are entrusted to the states and the involuntary action of the people. Whatever help the nation can justly afford should be generously given to aid the states in supporting the common schools, but it would be unjust to our people and injurious to our institutions to apply any portion of the revenues of the nation or of the states to the support of sectarian schools. The separation of the church and state in everything relating to taxation should be absolute.

THE FINANCES.

On the subject of national finances my views have been so frequently and so fully expressed that little is needed in the way of any additional statement. The public debt is now so well secured and the rate of public interest has been so reduced by refunding that rigid economy in expenditures and the faithful application of our surplus revenues to the payment of the principal of the debt will gradually, but certainly, free the people from its burdens, and close with honor the financial chapter of the war, at the same time the government can provide for all its ordinary expenditures and discharge its sacred obligations to the soldiers of the Union and to the widows and orphans of those who fell in its defense. The resumption of specie payments, which the republican party so courageously and successfully accomplished, has removed from the field of controversy many questions that long and seriously disturbed the credit of the government and the business of the country.

Our paper currency is now as national as the flag and resumption has not only made it everywhere equal to coin, but it has brought into use our store of gold and silver, circulating medium is more abundant than ever before, and we need only to maintain equality of all our dollars to insure labor and capital a measure of value from the use of which no one can suffer loss. The great prosperity which the country is now enjoying should not be endangered by any violent changes, or doubtful financial experiments.

THE TARIFF PROPOSITION.

In reference to our customs laws, a policy should be pursued which will bring revenues to the treasury and will enable the labor and capital employed in our great industries to compete fairly in our own markets with the labor and capital of foreign producers. We legislate for the people of the United States, not for the whole world, and it is our glory that the American laborer is more intelligent and better paid than his foreign competitor. Our country cannot be independent unless its people, with their natural resources, possess the requisite skill at any time to clothe, arm and equip themselves for war, and in time of peace to produce all necessary implements of labor.

It was the manifest intention of the founders of the government to provide for common defense, not by standing armies alone, but by raising among the people a greater army of artisans whose intelligence and skill should powerfully contribute to the safety and glory of the nation. Fortunately for the interests of commerce there is no longer any formidable opposition to appropriations for the improvement of our harbors and great navigable rivers provided that the expenditures for that purpose are strictly limited to works of national importance. The Mississippi river with its great tributaries, is of such vital importance to so many millions of people that the safety of its navigation requires exceptional consideration. In order to secure to the nation control of all its waters, President Jefferson negotiated the purchase of a vast territory, extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific Ocean. The wisdom of congress should be invoked to devise some plan by which that great river shall cease to be a terror to those who dwell upon its banks and by which its shipping may safely carry the industrial products of twenty-five millions of people.

The interests of agriculture, which is the basis of all our material prosperity and in which seven-twelfths of our population are engaged, as well as the interests of manufacture and commerce demand that facilities for cheap transportation shall be increased by the use of all our great water courses. Material interests of this country, the traditions of settlement and sentiment of our people, have led the government to offer the widest hospitality to emigrants who seek our shores for new and happy homes. Willing to share the burdens as well as the benefits of our society and intending that their posterity shall become an undistinguishable part of the population.

THE HEATHEN CHINEE.

The recent move of the Chinese to our Pacific coast partakes but little of the qualities of such an emigration either in its purposes or its result. It is too much like an importation to be welcomed without restriction; too much like an invasion to be looked upon without solicitude. We cannot consent to allow any form of servile labor to be introduced among us under the guise of immigration. Recognizing the gravity of this subject, the present administration, assisted by congress, sent to China a commission of distinguished citizens for the purpose of securing such a modification of the existing treaty as will prevent the evils likely to arise from the situation. It is confidently believed that these diplomatic negotiations will be successful without the loss of commercial intercourse between the two great powers, which promised a great increase of reciprocal trade and enlargement of our markets. Should these efforts fail it will be the duty of congress to mitigate the evils already felt and prevent their increase by restrictions as, without violence or injustice, will place upon a sure foundation the peace of our communities and the freedom and dignity of labor.

CIVIL SERVICE HUMBUG.

Appointment of citizens to various executive and judicial offices of the government is the most difficult of all duties which the constitution has imposed upon the executive. The convention wisely demands that congress shall co-operate with the executive departments in placing the civil service on a better basis. Experience has proved with our frequent changes of tenure it can be made effective and permanent without the aid of legislation. Appointments to the military service are so regulated by law and custom as to leave but little ground of complaint. It may not be wise to make similar regulations by law for civil service, but without invading the authority or necessary discretion of the executive, congress should devise a method that will determine the tenure of office and greatly reduce the uncertainty which makes that service so uncertain and unsatisfactory. Without depriving any officer of his rights as a citizen, government should require him to discharge all his official duties with intelligence, efficiency and faithfulness. To select wisely from our vast population those who are best fitted for many offices to be filled, requires an acquaintance far beyond the range of any one man. The executive should therefore seek and receive information and assistance of those whose knowledge of communities in which duties are to be performed best qualify them to aid in making the wisest choice.

The doctrines announced by the Chicago convention are not temporary devices of a party to carry an election. They are deliberate convictions resulting from a careful study of the spirit of our institutions, the events of history and best impulses of our people. In my judgment these principles should control legislation and the administration of the government. In any event they will guide my conduct until experience points out a better way.

If elected, it will be my purpose to enforce strict obedience to the constitution and laws and promote as best I may the interest and honor of the whole country, relying for support upon the wisdom of congress, the intelligence and patriotism of the people and the favor of God. With great respect, I am, very truly yours,

J. A. GARFIELD.

To Hon. George F. Hoar, chairman of the committee.

The Dayton Journal, a stalwart republican newspaper, thus rebukes the Tribune and other organs that are seeking to impugn the loyalty of the hero whose honor partisan malevolence dared not assail until he was made a candidate for president.

"Whether General Hancock ever wrote a letter saying that he would take command of the army and see that Tilden should be inaugurated if he was sworn in at a certain time, he has not answered; but we know this, and it is a matter of record: He appeared in full uniform, and in the procession as well as on the floor of the Senate, and on all official occasions, during the ceremonies at the time of the inauguration of President Hayes, with General Sherman, General Terry, etc. The records of the Adjutant General's office at Washington show General Hancock's name registered by himself at that time, March 5, 1877—Inauguration Day—in these words: "Here as per invitation of the General in Chief." So that it is clear that he went to Washington voluntarily, and not per orders. Therefore it seems apparent that he could not have written the letter alleged; for if he had, he would not have appeared voluntarily and complimentarily at the inauguration of President Hayes.

This much to end a fruitless discussion. The republican party, as we have said, is strong enough to face the truth and to speak it manfully."

To HON. WM ELWELL:

Dear Sir: At a meeting of the male and female sufferers, held in Milton, on Friday evening July 9th, 1880, to select a committee, for the purpose of devising a just and equitable method of distributing the funds so kindly contributed for the relief of said sufferers, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That Judges Cummin, Elwell and Rockefeller, be selected as a committee to devise a method of distributing the Relief Fund: that in them as eminent jurists we have the most implicit confidence, that whatever method they may adopt will be honorable, just and equitable, and that we will abide by their decision.

In compliance with the above resolutions, I, in behalf of our suffering people, earnestly request that you accept the trust, believing that by so doing you will render, not only to the sufferers by our late fire, but to the generous donors also, a most valuable service.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

LIFE OF GENERAL WINFIELD SCOTT HANCOCK.

We are glad to know that the well known publishing house of Hubbard Bros., of Philadelphia, have in preparation and will soon issue the "Life of General Hancock," written by his old-time friend, Hon. John W. Forney. The career of the brilliant soldier who is soon to be transferred to the White House furnishes material for a volume which, in deep and thrilling interest, has rarely been equaled in the annals of American biography. It is fortunate that its preparation has been assigned to Colonel Forney, who for twenty-five years has been known as one of the ablest editors and most brilliant writers in America. His known ability, and his personal intimacy with Gen. Hancock, are a sufficient guaranty that the book will be full, complete and authoritative—a volume of permanent value, and in this respect widely different from ordinary campaign literature. It will be sold only by subscription and must meet with a very large sale.

BUCKHORN, July 12, 1880.

EDS. COLUMBIAN:

Nothing of interest having occurred in our quiet village since my last, and being absent a part of the time, I will notice a few of the occurrences of the trip. Arriving at Hamburg on Friday afternoon, we were soon the guests of Dr. William Harris. Hamburg is a town of 2,000 inhabitants, composed principally of Germans, is beautifully located, quite a manufacturing place, and being as it is in Berks county, Democracy is supreme. We took occasion to visit the churches on Sabbath. A grand feature of St. John's Sunday school is the music which was led by an orchestra of eight pieces. This with the organ and singing was fine to say the least. In the evening we visited the M. E. church. It being the 4th of July, we noticed a fine company of fully equipped soldiers in the front pews and was gratified with the sermon. On Monday the celebrated Hamburg cornet band, composed of 28 members, and conducted by Dr. Harris, started to fill an engagement at Litiz, Lancaster county, and being somewhat accustomed to the use of band instruments, we donned a uniform and horn and took a hand in the game. We do not hesitate to say that this is one of the best bands in the State. Litiz is a beautiful place indeed, and with its fine churches, academies, hotels, and last but not least, the Litiz Springs and grand park, make it quite a summer resort. Trout by the thousands here abound and are carefully watched and cared for. We will not speak of the celebration more than to mention that there was quite a parade, a good oration and fire works or display in the evening to the amount of $500.00. I

Sunday School Hymns and Music.

It seems to us high time that the songs of the Sunday school, the prayer meeting and the regular church service should be more closely allied to each other, so that while the latter shall be made more hearty and earnest, the two former shall be less unworthy of a place in the mind and heart with the grand truths and magnificent literature of the Bible.

Too much countenance has heretofore been given in the Sunday school to "hymns" without reason, with here and there a dash of sentimentalism in place of vigorous thought—flippant in style and irreverent in expression, and set to tunes of little merit.

Rev. Dr. Charles S. Robinson, the author of 'Songs for the Sanctuary,' rendered a valuable service to the churches when he added to his later work, 'Spiritual Songs for the Church and Choir,' a most excellent edition called 'Spiritual Songs for Social Worship'; and now a continuation of the series is to be issued, 'Spiritual Songs for the Sunday school,' by the same accomplished author, who has been assisted in the work by Mr. W. F. Sherwin, the well-known musical conductor, composer and general Sunday school worker.

The title of the book is hopefully suggestive, and the name of Dr. Robinson and Mr. Sherwin give such promise of thoroughly sensible and attractive work that the event of the new volume will be watched with eager interest, as one likely to meet most happily the present need. The book will be published by Scribner & Co.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

HOW TO GET almost Everything.

Do you know how to get in the easiest way and to best advantage what you want for dress and house-furnishing?

First, how: Write for a catalogue; see what you can learn from it about the things you want. If samples can be useful to you, ask for them and state your wants so plainly that exactly the right samples can be sent.

Second, where: The place where goods are kept in the greatest variety; where they are sold for what they really are in respect to quality; where prices are lowest; where most care is taken to serve customers acceptably; and where you have the right to return whatever is not satisfactory.

There—no matter where you are—if you make your wants known and avail yourself of your privileges, you will get the best things in the best way, promptly and without trouble or risk; sometimes by mail, sometimes by express, almost always at less cost for carriage than the money you save in the price.

PILE REMEDY.

Piles—What unceasing tortures arise from Internal bleeding, External and Itching Piles. The vain endeavors to obtain even partial relief has discouraged the millions who suffer, and they have borne their agony in silence, thinking there was no hope or prospect of a cure. Notwithstanding the total failure of the many remedies heretofore offered for the cure of piles, and the picture of agony resting on the face of those who have tried the various remedies but in vain, yet eagerly sought for and anxiously tried anything that promises the least relief until their courage has long since given place to despondency, let them cheer up, allow the smiles of happiness to illuminate the haggard countenance, and the duties of life will be performed with a degree of happiness and pleasure unknown for weeks, months or years. Briggs' Pile Remedies are the result of unceasing study and experimenting, the ne plus ultra of medical science, and in every respect safe, scientific and reliable for the cure of piles in every form. Briggs' remedies are sold by C. A. Kleim, Bloomsburg, Pa.

Here we are with Dr. Josiah Briggs' Catarrh Specifics Nos. 1 and 2, and how shall we proceed to convince that we have the best and cheapest remedies known. 1st—we will furnish them to responsible parties on condition—"NO CURE NO PAY." 2nd—Will pay $100 for a case they will not cure. 3rd—Will pay $100 for their equal as a cure. 4th—Will pay $100 if anything poisonous or deleterious is found in their composition. 5th—Will pay $1,000 if in any particular Dr. Josiah Briggs' Catarrh Specifics are found different from representation. BUNION BALSAM.

Bunions, Corns and other ailments of the feet cause much suffering among all nations by whom shoes are worn. There is more than $100,000 worth of boots and shoes destroyed annually in the United States in the rest of the world more than $1,000,000 by cutting while new, or nearly so, to make room for painful bunions, corns, ingrowing nails, sore insteps, etc. Besides this great sacrifice, there is paid in New York to chiropodists about $25,000 annually; in New England states about $25,000; and in the western and southern about $50,000; and in the rest of the world about $50,000, besides this there is $500,000 spent annually for caustics and other worthless compounds for the cure of Bunions, Corns, Sore Insteps, Tender Feet, etc. To avoid these great losses and expenditures, use Dr. Josiah Briggs' Bunion Balsam and Sure Corn Cure, which is the only preparation known that gives immediate relief and radically cures hard, soft and ulcerated Bunions hard, soft and festered corns, vascular excrescences, callosities large and small, sore insteps, blistered heels, tender feet, ingrowing nails, etc., without causing or leaving any pain or soreness. Warranted safe and sure. Sold by C. A. Kleim, Bloomsburg, Pa.

issue. The writ was issued, and was served on General Hancock, who has the custody of Mary E. Surratt, the party on whose behalf the writ was obtained. The writ required him to have the body of Mrs. Surratt, with the cause of her detention, before this Court this morning at ten o'clock; he has neglected to obey the order of the Court and the question now before us is, "what is the Court to do under the circumstances."

This is the only question before the Court at this time. Any discussion on the merits involved would now be out of place. The Court acknowledges that its powers are inadequate to meet the military power possessed by General Hancock. If the Court were to decide at this moment that General Hancock was in contempt the only process which it would issue would be an attachment for the disregard of its authority. But why issue an attachment against the whole military power of the United States? This Court acknowledges that the laws are silent, and that it is without power in the premises, and therefore declines to make any order whatever.

If there be a disposition on the part of the military power to respect the authority of the civil courts they will respect the writ which has already been served. If, on the other hand, it is their determination to treat the authority of this court with contempt in this matter, they have the power and will to treat with equal contempt any other process which the court might order. The Court, therefore, must submit to the supreme physical force which now holds the custody of the petitioner, and decline to issue an attachment or to make any other order in this case.

GENERAL HANCOCK APPEARS.

At 11½ o'clock General Hancock to whom the writ was addressed, came into court accompanied by Attorney-General Speed. The trial of Miss Mary Harris, charged with the murder of Mr. Burroughs, a clerk in the Treasury Department, which was then pending, was immediately suspended, when Attorney General Speed addressed the Court as follows:

May it please the Court:—In regard to the writ of habeas corpus directed to General Hancock, I desire to say, by way of apology for his not sooner making a return, that the process was not served upon him until about breakfast time this morning, and that owing to his having a great many persons to see, a great many important matters requiring immediate atention, and this distance from the court house, he was unable to get here at an earlier hour.

I wish to assure the Court that no disrespect was intended to it by the delay to which it has been unavoidably subjected.

The Court declined to make any order in the case. The Attorney General and General Hancock, in obedience to the writ, makes the following return:

Headquarters Middle Military Division, Washington, D. C., July 7, 1865.—To Hon. Andrew Wylie, Justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia:—I hereby acknowledge the service of the writ hereto attached and return the same, and respectfully say that the body of Mary E. Surratt is in my possession under and by virtue of an order of Andrew Johnson, President of the United States and Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, for the purposes in said order expressed, a copy of which is hereto attached and made part of this return; and that I do not produce said body by reason of the order of the President of the United States, indorsed upon said writ, to which reference is hereby respectfully made, dated July 7, 1865.

WINFIELD S. HANCOCK,
Maj. Gen. U. S. Vols. Com'd'g. Mid. Div.

THE PRESIDENT'S INDORSEMENT.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, July 7, 1865, 10 a. m.—To Major General W. S. Hancock, Commander, &c.—I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby declare that the writ of habeas corpus has been heretofore suspended in such cases as this, and I do hereby especially suspend this writ, and direct that you proceed to execute the order heretofore given upon the judgment of the Military Commission, and you will give this order in return to the writ.

ANDREW JOHNSON,
President.

The Court.—This Court finds itself powerless to take any further action in the premises, and therefore declines to make orders which would be vain for any practical purpose. As regards the delay, it having been fully accounted for, the Court has no fault to attach to the respondent in that respect.

Attorney General Speed.—It may not be out of order for me to say here, that this whole subject has, of course, had most earnest and anxious consideration of the Executive, and of the war making power of the Government.

Every man upon reflection, and particularly every lawyer knows that war cannot be fought by due process of law, and armies cannot be maintained by due process of law. There must be armies. There must be battles; if war comes the law of war, and usage permits battles to be fought, permits human life to be taken without the judgment of the court, and without the process of the court. It permits prisoners to be taken, and prisoners to be held, and your honor will not undertake to discharge them, although the Constitution says that human life shall not be taken, or man be deprived of his liberty or property without due process of law. Conflict of necessity comes up when war comes between the Executive and the Judicial, if the war power or war does not transcend the civil. War is made for the maintenance of the civil power, that is when peace comes for the purpose of giving us the benefit of the civil.

This country is now in the midst of a great war, and the Commander-in-Chief of the armies of the United States was slain in the discharge of his duties, and if the armies of the United States cannot, under the laws of war protect their Commander-in-Chief from assassinations and if the laws of war cannot protect, by military law, the Commander-in-Chief from assassination and destruction, what has the Government come to?

The thing appears to me to be too plain for consideration. But as your honor has disposed of the case, I only make these remarks for the purpose of satisfying your Honor that we have anxiously, and I think most maturely considered this matter, giving your Honor credit for having done what you regard to be your duty in this matter, and are very glad to hear that your Honor gives us credit for having done what we have done and regarded to be our duty.

The Court—The writ was applied for, and I had no authority to refuse to grant it. It is a writ dear and sacred to every lover of liberty indispensible to the protection of citizens and can only be constitutionally set aside in times of war and insurrection, when the public safety requires it, and in regard to offenses committed in connection to the army or the military when called into active service.

With reference to the merits of this case, which has so much occupied the attention of the public, and in fact of the whole civilized world, it would be out of place for the court to express an opinion. The case is not before it. The Court can only say that it has no doubt the gentlemen connected with the Government who have had the duty of conducting this trial, are truly convinced in their own minds as to the manner in which they have performed their duties. I do not feel at liberty: I could not; I dared not refuse to grant the writ.

The return which has been made to the writ, is from the President of the United States, and declares that the writ of habeas corpus is to be suspended in this case as has been in other and similar cases. The Court has no further power in the case; if the Government desires to carry out its purpose in regard to the petitioner, the Court cannot prevent it; and I do not know that it would be possible, ever hereafter, to bring the case for argument in this Court, for if the petitioner be executed this day, as designed, the body cannot be brought into Court, and therefore is an end to the case. The jurisdiction of this Court yields to the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus from the President of the United States.

General Hancock then asked leave to retire, which was granted, and he left in company with Attorney-General Speed.

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill-health, and of his inability to cure her, 'try Hop Bitters!' The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

It is not suprising that every few years we hear of the suffering of the famine stricken people of Egypt, when the small amount of cultivated land compared with the population is taken into consideration. The country is naturally barren, but millions of acres of land are made fertile by the annual overflow of the Nile. Notwithstanding the country has a population of about 7,000,000 the entire land under cultivaton is said not to exceed the state of New Jersey in extent.
